

ALEXANDRIA.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 9.

AMID THE general acclaim throughout Virginia at the utter defeat and route of Mahone and Mahoneism, there is one cause of sorrow-the fact that enough white men were found in Alexandria whe, by uniting with the negroes of the city and those who were brought from Washington, were enabled to make the county town of both Washington and Lee reverse its former democratic majority, and proclaim itself to the world as willing to submit to the ignominious yoke of the man whose vote prevented the repeal of the statute prohibiting in the U.S. army.

"As THIS is a free country, in which every man, black as well as white, has the right to vote, there is nothing to do after an election but ab'de the result. But for all that, the unprejudiced people of this community can not help thinking it rather strange that Messrs, Lewis McKenzle and Charles Dearborn could influence a sufficient number of white men in Alexandria to unite with the solid negro vote and elect a candidate for the legislature who, no matter how competent for the position he may prove to be, can not, owing to the circumstances of the case, be as influential a member of that body as the one he has defeated.

THE THRIVING cities of Norfolk, Portsmouth, Richmond, Lynchburg, Danville and Staunton, and nearly all the thriving towns in the State, send to the legislature members who are in accord with the majority of that body, and who will therefore not have their umn. They were dubious about her fate local interests antagonized. But Alexan. local interests antagonized. But Alexandria, which is deeply interested in the passage of several local bills, has deemed it only deserves the next U. S. Senatorship wise to elect a member who is not in accord from his State, but that it would be unexamwise to elect a themselves who is about a both a both with that majority, in the place of one who is, and who, if elected, would have had the upon him. But none of them expects that additional influence that necessarily attaches to the occupant of the Speaker's chair.

MANY of the knights of labor, wherever elections were held yesterday, voted against the democratic, which from the commencement of the government down to the present has been the poor man's party, and in favor of the republican, the principles and policy of which prove that it is the party of the rich man, and whose legislation, during the whole time of its dominancy, was in favor of the interests of those who dress in fine linen and fare sumptuously, and against those who live by the sweat of their faces.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND'S policy, as expressel to a Southern democrat before his inauguration, has been to increase the number of Northern democratic States. He has been in office now nearly three years-sure by long enough to test the effectiveness of for his party to abandon it now, and revert to the policy of his good and true democrat ic predecessors?

THERE WERE a good many strangers from Washington in the city yesterday, who came here to see a Virginia election. What struck them as the strangest of all the things they saw, was the fact that while the negroes voted as a unit, the white men divided. off. They seemed to think that a division of the whites, under the circumstances, was unnatural in a Southern community. But no man has ever truly portrayed either the inconsistency or the depravity of human na-

But how a Mahone member of the House of Delegates from Alexandris can promote the welfare of the city in an anti-Mabone legislature is not easy to tell.

FROM WASHINGTON.

[Special Correspondence of the Alexa, Gazerre] WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 9, 1887. Mr. Lewis McKenzie, Mahone's manager in that city, when here a day or two before, to buy transportation tickets for such negroes of this city as would go there to vote, told a gentleman the Mahone candidate there would be elected by three hundred majority. It is understood to day that the President has determined to appoint Mr. Lovering, who was defeated for Governor of Massa-chusetts yesterday, U. S. Marshal for that State when the term of General Banks, the present occupant of that office, shall expire. But that he will not remove General Banks before the expiration of his term, though the General's accounts are in utter confu-

Among the strangers in the city to day is ex-Congressman Libby of Virginia. He says the vote polled in his county was small, neither democrats nor republicans apparently taking any interest in the result. Mr. James Devine, from Loudoun county, says the same apathetic condition prevailed there. Ex-Congressman Beall of Westmoreland, who arrived this morning, says the democrats made considerable gains in some of the precincts of his county, but he does not know whether they were sufficient to defeat Mayo, the Mahone candidate for the legislature.

The fall races were resumed here to-day with a fair attendance.

Great hilarity prevails at the White House to day, as it is considered there that the result of yesterday's elections in New York and Virginia was all that is required to secure the President's renomination. Great lolarity, on the contrary, prevails at republican beadquarters, as the result re-ferred to is considered there as a quietus to the nomination of both Blaine and Sherman, as the former cannot carry New York, nor the latter any Southern state.

A Northern republican here to day, who was at the Mahone headquarters in Richmond yesterday, in talking to the GAZETTE'S correspondent this morning, said he was not in the least surprised now that all the repu table people in Virginia voted the democratic ticket, as the white men he saw at those headquarters looked like penitentiary convicts, and the negroes there were so of fensive that he had to hug an open window

All the democrats here, but especially those from that State, are delighted that Virginia is secured in the democratic colanxiety adds to their present joy. They all, with one accord, say that Mr. Barbour not he will have any opposition.

THE PLANETS IN NOVEMBER.-The plan-

etary record for November is full of interest. Venus, arrayed in glorious garments, adorns the morning sky. Saturn hovers near the beautiful cluster, Praesepe, and is visible nearly all night long. Jupiter, having been visible for nearly the whole month, shines near the sun as morning star at its close. Mars beams with ruddy light in the early for the telescope. The charming Indian summer, that comes in November, when trees are bare and birds have flown, lends an starry glory of the heavens at night, as well as to the aspect of the heavens by day, where reigns and rules the all-powerful sun. On or about November 14 a number of meteors may be seen, radiating from a point in the constellation Leo, and for this reason is as easily accounted for as the movements of the planets. They belong to an immense ellipse or meteor zone, one extremity rest-ing on the earth's orbit and the other stretching out beyond the orbit of Uranus. THE SUPPER OF KING DAVID. - A letter in the Jewish Herald regarding a very remarkable Jewish custom, which has never yet been brought before the public by any writer, is as follows: "It is customary among the pious orthodox Jews all other the world to eat a small dainty morsel every Saturday evening, and to repeat at the same time the following short formula: 'This is the supper of King David.' No pious Jew ever deviates from this established custom. No matter of what the morsel consists, be it flesh, fowl, or fish, bread, cake, or even fruit, he must eat a morsel 'not less than the size of an olive.' The morsel must be eaten on that part of the evening just when the Sab bath terminates and the first day of the week commences, that is after the consecration of the cup of wine at the exit of the Sabbath, and after repeating the whole form of private devotion appointed for that special occasion. In Anglo Jewish liturgies the formula is omitted, and in its place is printed in Hebrew only, and in very small type, the words: 'And its secret is stored up for the experienced in grace.' But in Jewish liturgies printed in Russia, Austria, and Germany, the full form, in large type, is found: 'This is the Supper of King David." The custom is certainly a curious one, and apparently for some reason or other veiled
